Art Unit: 1775

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dorfman et al (5,786,068).

Dorfman et al discloses the claimed diamond like coating containing metal that may be copper (column 4, lines 20-24) on substrates such as slip rings (column 5, lines 16-20). Notice that the metal is co deposited within the coating (column 8, line 32), which meets the contiguous limitation in the claims. Additionally intermediate layers between the coating and substrate are noted that are not necessarily required with the instant coating but it does not preclude them (column 5, 48-50).

Applicant's arguments filed 1/25/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that the co deposition is not ion accelerated. The applicants attention is directed to column 9, line 36, where ion sputtering is disclosed and thus the rejection is maintained.

The applicant is reminded that when the prior art discloses a product which reasonably appears to be either identical with or only slightly different than a product in a claim, the burden is on the applicant to present evidence from which the examiner could reasonably conclude that the product differs in kind from those of the prior art (In re Brown, 459 F. 2d 531, 173 USPQ 685 (CCPA 1972); In re Fessman, 489 F. 2d 742, 180 USPQ 324 (CCPA 1974)). This burden is NOT discharged solely because the product was derived from a process known to the prior art (In re Fessman, 489 F. 2d 742, 180 USPQ 324 (CCPA 1974)).

3. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Archene Turner whose new telephone number is (571) 272-1545. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday, Wednesday through Friday from 10:30 am. to 6:00 pm.
